AB SVAFO's procurement of DOE-9975 transport casks

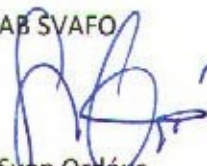

Dear Mr. Gough,

As you know, Sweden has long been a global leader on non-proliferation. For many years we have been collaborating with the United States' Global Threat Reduction Initiative to move weapons-grade materials to highly-secured storage at the Savannah River Site (SRS) near Aiken, South Carolina. I am delighted to inform you that, in March, 2012 we completed the transfer of over 3 kilograms of weapons-grade plutonium to SRS, the first shipment of plutonium under the program from anywhere in the world.

This letter is to express our thanks and appreciation for the integral part played by Accurate Machine Products Corporation in this complex effort. The 9975 Type B Shipping Packages manufactured by your company performed admirably. I am informed that the procurement and manufacturing went very smoothly, that there were no quality issues, and that the units were delivered ahead of schedule. Our personnel were very pleased with every aspect of your company's performance and, in particular, expressed their appreciation for the excellent and friendly cooperation of your staff, and the meticulous attention to detail in the documentation of the packages.

Accurate Machine Products was selected to build the 9975s due to your long experience with Type B shipping packages, and we are pleased that the decision proved correct. We look forward to working with you again in the future.

Sincerely,

AB SVAFO
